A creative spirit permeates all of our lives. Its expression is unique for each individual. Someone may want to paint a beautiful portrait, another to create a happy family, and someone else to do research in chemistry. No matter how different these goals may be, each is generated by the same force — creativity. Peace of mind and the richness of our lives depend upon how well we fulfill these aspirations.

In high school, we begin to realize the importance of developing this desire to create and of using it to make our lives more meaningful. At first, teachers merely try to cultivate in us certain abilities so that we will know fundamental skills. As our knowledge increases, an inner drive to create gradually intensifies. As we become more mature, our instructors stress the application of this drive to the building of our characters and to the discovery of a purpose for our lives.

Our characters are always developing, taking on greater scope as our range of experience broadens. From these experiences we begin to form a sense of values that enables us to focus our energies and abilities into constructive channels. An important goal for every person is to determine in which field he will best express himself.

Thus it is fitting that the Yearbook of 1960 be devoted to the theme: a creative spirit.

DEDICATION

Although you have been with us for only two years, you already mean something special to the Class of 1960. Since you first taught us as Juniors in United States History, you have played an important part in shaping our lives and in determining the kinds of people we will be. Through your conscientious instruction, your careful consideration of our individual problems as well as our work, and your fund of knowledge both of history and of people, you have given us the basic understanding of our country and its people so necessary to every citizen. You have enabled us to go into the world with a greater understanding of our fellow man, his idiosyncracies, his problems, his needs. With this knowledge we can use our creative spirit to build stronger friendships, to lead a more meaningful life, and to advance peace among men. It is in appreciation and gratitude for your invaluable assistance in making us better citizens and better human beings that we dedicate the Yearbook of the Class of 1960 to you, Mr. Norman Smith.

THE YEARBOOK STAFF WORKS TO BUILD A LASTING IMAGE OF THE YEAR

"Organization is the key to all success," especially in producing a yearbook! Deadlines must be met. There should be no spelling or typographical errors. Students' heads should not be cropped out of pictures. Above all, every staff member should get at least two hours of sleep a week. This can be accomplished only by good organization.

The 1960 staff will never forget the exhilarating after-school sessions or the night-before-deadline meetings at Janet Ellis' house; energetic labor and gay sociability always prevailed. Faculty advisor, Mr. Carberg, has been invaluable to us and deserves our whole-hearted thanks.

The long hours he has spent working with us, (even until 8:00 at night,) his poignant humor, and his background in journalism have pulled us through many a tough situation.

Principal

AN ABLE ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Brackett, Superintendent of Schools has carried out his normal responsibilities, and has spent much of his valuable time working with citizen groups which investigated different curricula for the new high school.

Mr. Smith, our principal, always has time to help individual students with their problems; he works closely with the Student Council, an organization of utmost importance.

Vice-Principal, Mr. Teittinen, assists Mr. Smith by taking charge of many organizational activities and handles necessary disciplinary situations.

Mrs. Helene Minsky, Mrs. Elaine Sinclair, and Mrs. Rita Hawkins, our helpful secretaries, sit at their overcrowded desk.

QUESTION: Whom do you see as you enter the office to find the whereabouts of the detention hall or to determine whether your orange sock somehow ended up in the lost and found?

ANSWER: The smiling faces of our very busy secretaries, always willing to answer any queries.

Serving as the guidance secretary is Mrs. Sinclair. Mrs. Minsky and Mrs. Hawkins are even busier this year because of the crowded school conditions. If it were not for these capable women, there would certainly be much confusion throughout the school.

Mr. Proctor has been in Weston since 1934 and has been coach of all sports. In 1952, the school received the coveted Sports Trial Century Club Plaque for winning 100 football games.

Mr. Proctor is now Athletic Director for grades one through twelve, a position which keeps him on the move.

"We're a good group and are all working together very happily," said Miss McDonough, Acting Head of the English Department this year. Everyone feels the loss of Mr. Mitchell who has taken a sabbatical leave to study for his Ph.D. in educational administration at Harvard.

Mr. Hatch, formerly a private school teacher, provides excellent college preparation in analytical reading and writing. Mr. Walker, with a twinkle in his eye, conducts classes that are enjoyable and helpful. Mr. Carberg, with a background in journalism, is Director of Publication. Mrs. Lenrow and Miss McDonough return to teach the underclass group an appreciation of literature and the theater.

Mrs. Ruth Lenrow, Miss Claire McDonough, Acting Head, Mr. Warren Carberg, Northwestern, Mr. Robert Walker, Princeton and Wesleyan University, and Mr. Charles Hatch, Harvard and Middlebury College.

Mr. Frederic Killebrew, Mrs. Theresa Zamprogno, Mrs. Venezia Mezzacappa, Mrs. Harriet Nelson, Middlebury and Boston University, and Mrs. Jeanette Bucuvalas.

As the world becomes smaller there is a growing importance for languages. Mrs. Zamprogno with her long experience as a French teacher and a promoter of interest in international relations, heads the Language Department. Mrs. Zamprogno is accompanied by Mrs. Mezzacappa and Mrs. Nelson, a new faculty member.

Mrs. Bucuvalas' Latin course gives students an excellent knowledge of classical language and a basis for the study of modern languages. We are most fortunate in having a Russian course, instructed by Mr. Killebrew.

AND A CREATIVE FACULTY

There are many problems confronting the Guidance Department, an indispensable element in the school program. Mr. Cummings, with his distinguished, friendly manner and Mr. Carini, who readily evokes confidence, are our patient guidance counselors. Due to their efforts, many informative conferences are held for the benefit of all students. The conference period, an innovation this year, allows Mr. Cummings and Mr. Carini more time for individual attention.

Mr. Irving Marsden, Mr. Wallace Sawyer, Department Head, Mr. Irving Keene, and Mr. Robert Stewart, gather in the Chemistry Laboratory.

Science is the study of one's environment and an understanding of this is important to every human being. Honor classes given by Mr. Sawyer in Chemistry and Mr. Marsden in his famed P.S.S.C. physics course emphasize this fully. Of course, Mr. Keene is the prime exponent of "Living Biology" with his field trips and 5 A.M. bird walks. Mr. Stuart has added Chemistry to his list of talents, and completes the Science Department. Weston is proud of its high standing and advanced methods in this area.

World Geography, the freshman course capably handled by Mrs. Lenrow, teaches the fundamental knowledge of the people and places of the earth. Mr. Killebrew conducts a challenging course in World History, a course highlighted by sudden vocal explosions and keen humor. This class gives the student insight into the channels of creation and the destruction which men have followed throughout the ages.

Mr. Smith emphasizes a thorough knowledge of U.S. History in preparation for Modern Problems which aims at creating responsible American citizens.

INCLUDING TEACHERS OF SCIENCE

Mr. Zorn, who teaches speech courses at our high school, has evolved a marvelous philosophy about his field: "Why speech education? The high school student is not a hermit. He must live in a vocal community. Training in effective speech and logical organization of his ideas will be a major factor in the student's success in high school, college, and in his career."

The Business Department is run in a lively and imaginative way by Mrs. Hoyle. The clacking of typewriters and the reeling tapes of the dictaphone create the atmosphere of a modern business office. The interest of students is manifested in the membership in the newly organized Business Club.

Mrs. Ellen Holt, Mrs. June Ellsworth, Miss Martha Zelinka, Head of the Department, and Mr. Jeremiah Kellett.

Headed this year by Miss Zelinka, the Mathematics Department has survived its first year in a long while without Miss Green. In addition to the conventional courses in trigonometry and solid geometry, Miss Zelinka teaches Algebra I using a revolutionary method of presentation. Miss Holt, the only new member of the Mathematics Department, teaches Algebra I and Plane Geometry. Mr. Stuart teaches Algebra I, Mrs. Ellsworth, Basic Math. Mr. Kellett, who has returned from a year of study, teaches Plane Geometry, Algebra II and Trig.

Shop under the direction of Mr. Hale, and mechanical drawing, supervised by Mr. Teittinen comprise the Industrial Arts Department. One popular subdivision of this department is the auto mechanics. Evidence of the high quality of instruction is the large number of awards won by our Industrial Arts students.

AND THE HUMANITIES

Our school librarian, Mrs. Signe Hynson, can usually be found helping students find materials for research projects and books for leisure reading. The library is kept well stocked with new books, current magazines, and a fine selection of daily newspapers make it one of our most important educational facilities.

Mrs. Raymond, has very modern ideas about the field and strives to update her teaching. Foods and Nutrition is no longer a class where the "girls try to cook," but one where they also learn the basic theories of food preparation and nutrition.

Mrs. Ruth Raymond, Farminghan State Teachers College.

As the director of the extensive musical program in the high school, junior high, and elementary schools, Mr. Corley is always on the move. He spends many of his evenings playing the trombone in the Carousel Theater in Farmingham. His competence as a musician was demonstrated when he was asked to audition pupils for the regional orchestra.

COMBINE TO ENRICH

A woman of many talents, Miss Alice Olliff conducts informative art classes, and is a great aid to prom and graduation decoration committees. Her Art Service Club is constantly engaged in publicity projects. The Smoke Signal, Yearbook, and individual students all benefit from her imaginative photography.

"There is always room for improvement." This statement describes the purpose of Weston's remedial reading course. Each student is able to watch his improvement in reading through a series of tests. Miss Gertrude Callahan aids pupils in spelling, along with increasing their reading speed and comprehension.

Giving physical guidance and instruction to the entire male assemblage at Weston High, often results in a tedious chore, but Mr. Harris surmounts the task. Energetic and devoted, Coach Harris has the double responsibility of conducting gym classes and heading the varsity football team during fall term.

Miss Butera more than does her job as the girls' physical education instructor. By understanding and willingness to help, she has earned the deep appreciation and respect of all the girls. Her sense of humor makes gym classes entertaining, and we will long remember her for such witty slogans as "D or D," and the crazy songs she teaches on the team bus.

OUR SCHOOL

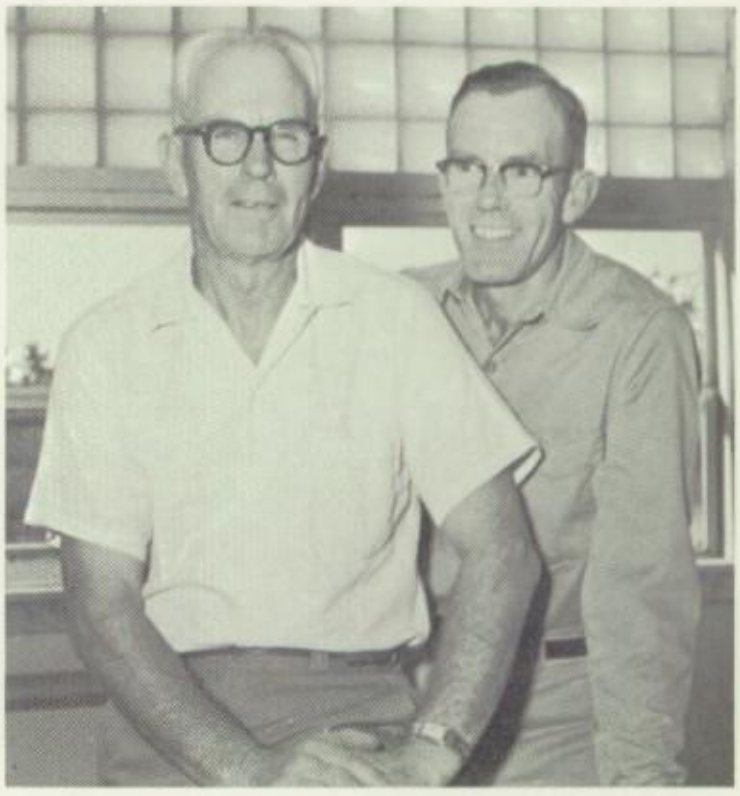
Mrs. Riley and her assistants, Mrs. Foote, Mrs. Burke, and Mrs. Jacques, work in the cafeteria kitchen to give the school ample and delicious lunches every day of the school year. The Seniors' successful football concessions are helped immensely through the use of the kitchen facilities.

Mr. Cronan is our driver education instructor. He does an excellent job of explaining driving. The clutch in the driver education car may wear out many times a year, but Mr. Cronan's patience seems everlasting. His discussions in class about responsibilities involved in driving are not soon forgotten. Mr. Cronan also teaches Modern Problems and coaches our successful Golf team.

Mr. Clarke, Mr. MacLeod, Mr. Cain, and Mr. Merrill, the janitors of Weston High, are constantly ready to help with all student problems, from jammed lockers to dance decorations. They work incessantly for the improved appearance and well-being of the school.



Graduation 1959

Since we were juniors, we knew many members of the class of 1959 personally, instead of feeling lost in their "supreme" midst. Now that last year's graduates are on the "road of life," if you will, we still remember them for their Senior Variety Show, their "serious" April Fool's Day, and their excellent participation in "You Can't Take It With You."

ELIZABETH R. PARSONS

IN MEMORIAM

The Class of 1960 dedicates this page in the memory of Elizabeth Parsons.

Beth was a prominent member of the Class of 1960, typical in that she enjoyed class activities, but unusual in her accomplishments and plans for the future. During her short but full life, Beth showed much promise in the field of music. As concert mistress, she enjoyed music to its fullest. She was a successful participant in many youth orchestra festivals which she attended as a representative of Weston High School. There is no doubt that Beth would have left the world a richer place through her life's work.

Probably her greatest interest was people, their idiosyncrasies and the why's of their behavior. She respected people in spite of their faults, and praised them for their abilities. People were important to her, and many came alive in Beth's probing and imaginative writing.

We can look upon this loss of a classmate as an added responsibility to succeed during our lifetimes. For we must make something of the chance at life that we have, which she did not have. We owe it to ourselves and to her memory to add something with our talents.

The juniors of the class of 1961 have been impressed by many things such as the necessity of preliminary college applications, preparation of graduation decorations, the many, many hours of work for the Junior Prom, and the academic work of a busy junior year.

One of the great qualities of this class is its leadership, which will surely continue next year. Their leading personalities have contributed as class officers, newspaper staff, club members and in sports.

The Seniors wish the best of luck to the prospective seniors who must represent the school and its ideals.

CREATIVE ABILITY IS MOLDED

Sophomore students get into the real swing of high school life with the wisdom and confidence gained from the last year's experience. More extensive study of English literature, the initiation of either French or Russian, and Mr. Keene's inspiring biology field trips provide ample opportunity for the Sophomores to develop their creative abilities. College looms ahead, and a careful selection of extracurricular activities is very important.

The social life becomes exceedingly gay, in the tenth grade. For the first time they attend the senior sociables, and also put on the Victory Dance after the football season.

Although they still have two more years to go, one can already see the great potential of the Class of 1962.

FRESHMEN ANTICIPATE OPPORTUNITIES

The freshmen experience a new way of academic and social life. This is the year of getting a start, of learning the routine, and of becoming full-fledged high school students. They become acquainted with symbols of high school life-homework, "relaxing" lunch periods, elective courses, and "A" and "B" schedules.

Each freshman makes out a four-year schedule. At that point, they can decide on a college preparatory or commercial course. The range of subjects offered in each field is expanding at Weston, and the Freshmen are fortunate to be able to benefit from this.

Outside activities are numerous, and many Freshmen join the various extracurricular organizations. The Russian Club this year is populated almost entirely by the Freshman class. They will also have ample opportunity to join the new clubs which have sprung up in the business and homemaking departments.

As for social life, this Freshman class seems to be the liveliest yet, attending all football games, throwing parties, and populating school dances and junior sociables.

With three more years to go, the Freshmen still have much to look forward to, and their fine showing this year insures a bright future for them.

The officers of the Freshman class, Kim, Jane, Charlie, and Joyce, are leaders of the newest additions to the High School. Much dependent upon their leadership ability will be the success of their first year as full-fledged members of the High School. Their job will consist of a great deal of organization and planning for school and extra-curricular activities so essential to the smooth operation of a class group.

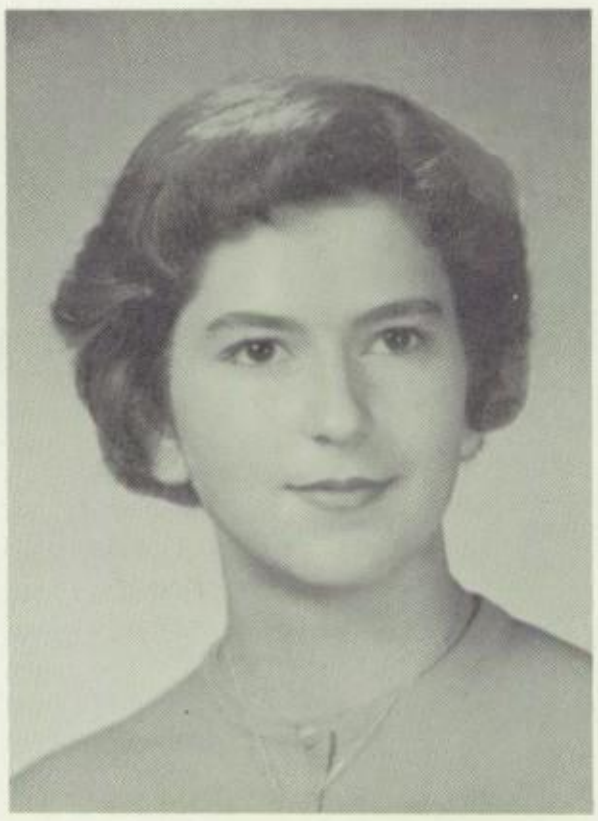
TENTH ANNIVERSARY

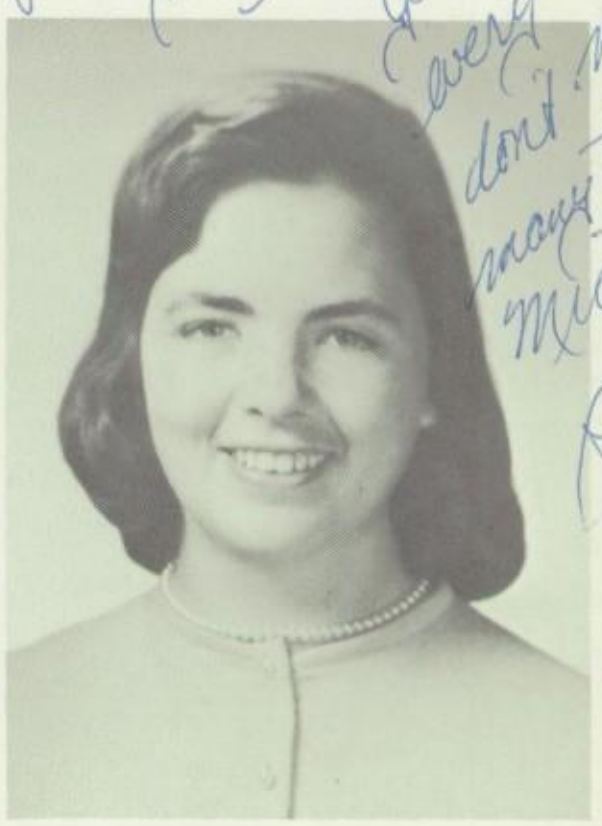
WESTON — ROMBAS EXCHANGE

Armine Avakian

Francoise Friedrich



Susan Toner



The Weston-Rombas exchange program has meant a great deal to both communities for ten years. The exchange student from Rombas becomes an honorary member of the Senior class at Weston High School, while the student from Weston attends the Collège de Rombas. Both have the unusual and valuable opportunity to see the people of another country in their everyday life. The students at both institutions benefit academically and non-academically from the exchange.

Susie spent the school year 1958-59 in Rombas, France. She has returned this year to become a member of the Class of 1960. In addition to aid she gives her fellow students in the French language, she has entered whole-heartedly into the spirit of the class.

Frankie, who is spending 1959-60 here in Weston, has found a place in the heart of the class with her French witticisms and gleeful enthusiasm. She is the high authority on all controversial French grammatical points and adds a unique touch to the French classes. Frankie has instilled in these classes a real feeling for the language and people of France. She has brought a part of France with her to share with her friends at Weston.

Armine Avakian is spending the school year 1959-60 at the Collége de Rombas. She has sent back many illuminating letters of her personal impressions of our sister community. They are full of enthusiasm and perception, showing genuine understanding of the people. We trust that Armine's year abroad will be highly successful.

ACTIVITIES

"BLUE

Unsteady palm trees, blue lights and macaroni are only a few of the gay memories we have of the 1959 Prom. The breathless scurry of "Prom meetings at Janice Wilson's house," and the unending labor of the committee members, culminated in a most successful dance. A heartfelt word of thanks is also due Mrs. Mezzacappa and Miss Olliff, whose assistance was truly appreciated. Herbie Wayne and his orchestra, decked out with leis and electric guitar, added a finishing touch to the Hawaiian theme. May 8, 1959 will long be remembered as the date of the most profitable Prom ever given.

1960's Creative Ability Manifests Itself

HAWAII'' HIGHLIGHTS THE YEAR

SEATED — A. Shores, N. Ferant, P. Murphey, Mrs. Hoyle, P. Anderson, J. Ellis, C. Mason, STANDING — A. Wright, D. Baker, N. Hall, J. Benger, S. Vale, S. Thomas, M. Condon, S. Page, C. Tabor, N. Callinan, R. Chibaro, S. Otto, E. Griffith.

The Weston High School Business Club, newly formed this fall, has had an excellent start. It has already drafted and adopted a constitution in preparation for joining the Future Business Leaders of America, a national organization of similar clubs. Under the supervision of Mrs. Hoyle, the club handled tickets for the school play and started a program of clerical aid to the teachers.

CLUBS PROVIDE RECOGNITION

Someone once said that small men discuss other men, average men discuss events, and great men discuss ideas. In the Discussion Club, interested students try to be worthy of the latter qualification. Over crumpets (sometimes cookies) and tea (sometimes lemonade) the more mature classes of the school, namely the Juniors and Seniors, discuss personal, local, and world problems as well as such subjects as concepts of right and wrong, when to tell a lie, and problems of racial discrimination in our town. This club encourages clear, unbiased thinking, a mental process which will be invaluable to all of us in the future.

STANDING — P. Lombard, K. Beamish, P. Curtis, D. Harnish, L. Appleyard, N. Callinan, A. Corman, N. Albrecht, S. Hammil, K. Loder, J. Cetrone, Mr. Cummings, SEATED — B. Eddy, D. Newbert, C. Schulmann, J. Hoagland, N. Locke, V. Capoccia, D. Ayers, H. Hartwell, J. Twomey, B. Eaton, S. Livingston, J. Olsen, A. Jones.

SEATED — K. Wolff, A. Shores, B. Ormsby, J. Twomey, M. Rennie STANDING — A. Healey, K. Crowe, Mrs. Raymond, M. Burns.

The Future Homemakers of America, in its first year at Weston, has encouraged the development of domestic skills, not the least of which is learning to live creatively and happily in a group situation. An example of its benevolence is the diverse Red Cross projects which the club has undertaken. Mrs. Raymond has participated enthusiastically in this club and has helped the girls to better meet family life in the future.

AND DEVELOP ABILITIES

For five years students who have shown outstanding scholarship as well as the qualities of character, leadership, and service, have been elected by the faculty to become members of the Carl T. Rhodes chapter of the National Honor Society. Mr. Rhodes was principal and superintendent of the Weston school system and his picture now hangs in our library.

Sophomores may be probationary members, while Juniors and Seniors hold permanent positions.

The Honor Society is designed not only to give recognition to deserving students, but also to serve as an ideal for the other students of Weston High School.

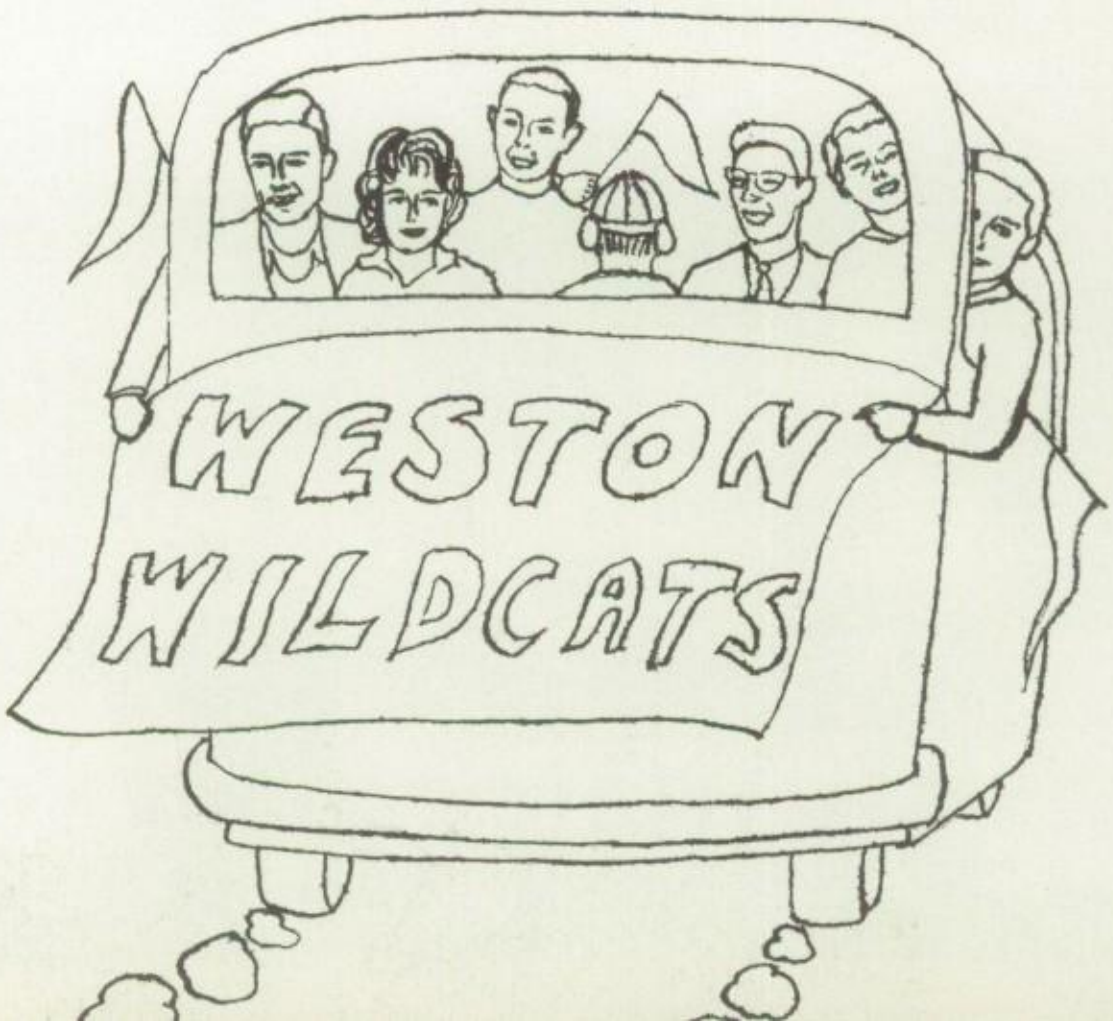
STUDENT COUNCIL FOSTERS INITIATIVE

Advised by Mr. Stuart and Mrs. Lenrow, the sixteen council members have continued the brisk pace set by last year's Student Council. Mr. Willard Smith's consistent backing of the Council has again helped to make it an active and progressive organization. The Conference Period has made it possible for the Council to meet during school hours, a great advantage over the 1959 situation.

Notable projects listed in the mid-year report of the Council included the construction of a school calendar and the presentation of the student handbook A drive was begun to promote more school spirit. Some of the activities aimed at doing this were the sales of Weston High bookcovers and pins. An afternoon food bar was organized to satisfy the ravenous appetites of our hard-working athletes.

The Student Council carried out its traditional duties very well, providing buses for away games and organizing entertaining assemblies.

SITTING — Mrs. Lenrow, N. Law, J. Harnish, S. Petrick, P. Borrelli, B. White, G. Maloney, Mr. Stewart STANDING — S. Vogt, E. Lombard, S. Gibbons, B. Boden, K. Stone, B. Foster, D. Leonhardt, K. McMullin, J. Bump, T. Graves.



SITTING — S. Hamill, Mrs. Minsky, M. Toppan, J. Ellis STANDING — S. Livingston, E. FitzGerald, N. Law, J. Tyler, S. Vail, B. Gates, C. Mooers, J. Benger, K. Wolff, K. Beamish, S. Cress, J. Tenneson, J. Condon, S. Page, Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Sinclair.

The job of Library Assistants is a rewarding, helpful and time-consuming one. Mrs. Hynson is able to devote more time helping students directly, since her assistants complete most of the many odd jobs that exist in a library. Their duties include filing books, filling out cards, and sending overdue notices. This is a valuable service both to each assistant and to the library.

The once over-burdened secretaries of Weston High School are now partially relieved by the efficient help of the office assistants. They do a great deal of miscellaneous jobs in and around the office, such as using the P.A. System, answering the telephone and delivering messages. All girls, Freshmen through Seniors, are qualified for the job. The girls do this work during their free periods, getting secretarial experience as well as quite a bit of exercise.

DEUX PAYS

This year the French and Affiliation Clubs have joined forces because of their common interests. Formerly, each club worked in its own way to further its members' appreciation of France and her people. The Affiliation did this through the exchange program with Rombas, and the French Club used slides and speakers, primarily. Now these closely related activities are combined, making a well-organized and productive club. Francoise Friedrich, our vivacious exchange student from Rombas, is an active and informative participant in the club, as is Sue Toner, who has just returned from France. The sale of Christmas cards, the reception for Francoise, the Christmas party, and regular meetings were traditionally and enthusiastically carried on. This year has proved very successful for the French-Affiliation Club, and there is no doubt that the merger was an excellent idea.

If you become aware of a strange odor permeating the atmosphere some Tuesday afternoon, don't be alarmed, it's only an experiment by the Physical Science Club. This club requires that members be taking a science and be willing to do assigned outside reading.

Meetings generally consist of demonstrations and seminar-like discussions. Several sessions are usually needed to develop one topic fully. Guest speakers are often brought in to clarify portions of the subject under discussions. Some meetings are devoted to students who give reports on assigned books they have read. Mr. Marsden, club advisor, presides at the gatherings and helps develop the important ideas.

INTERPRET THE PHYSICAL WORLD

White mice, bird walks, trail blazing in 45 degree weather, and speakers on Anthelmintic Remedies for Animal Bipes Implume are only a few of the many symbols of Mr. Keene's Biology Club. This club furthers its members' knowledge of biology through field activities, trips to colleges, hospitals, and labs, and various guest speakers. A prominent speaker this year was a member of the Arnold Arboretum staff. Participants in the club may use the dissecting materials for extra credit projects. The chief activity this year will be blazing the Nature Trail which runs around the New Elementary School.

This year's Russian Club has increased its size and expanded its activities so much that it is now one of the most energetic clubs of Weston High. Under the direction of Mr. Killibrew, the club has sponsored such successful events as a barbeque, a dance, and a Chekov play. The purpose of the club is to increase one's knowledge of Russia, her people, and her culture. A prime example of this was a meeting at which records of Russian music were borrowed from the town library and played to the members.

The Announcers' Club is the only club in the school that meets five days a week. It is purely a public service club, and every student in the school can try out for it. Club members benefit from participation since their speech is invariably improved. An interest in proper speaking methods is encouraged by the annual field trip to Emerson College. One can never forget their likeable advisor, Mr. Zorn and his famous phrase, "And this concludes the morning announcements."

An enthusiastic Math Club worked diligently and constructively.

The Math Club, ably directed by Miss Zelinka, has held many fascinating and informative programs this year. The meetings, conducted once a month, have provided the members with new concepts, derived from demonstrations, projects, and guest speakers. Many of their projects have won national recognition when shown at mathematical conferences. Due to a constant demand, the publications committee has worked diligently to continue the distribution of the mathematical booklets, written by members past and present. The club, including members from all classes, also held the traditional spring meeting, to which parents and townspeople are always invited. At this meeting projects made by the members were displayed and perhaps baffled some of the guests.

FINE REPORTING SPARKS SMOKE SIGNAL

A small, but unified and energetic group of students produced Weston High School's newspaper, the Smoke Signal. Through their work, the paper has made many advances. The staff introduced the sale of Weston Wildcat pennants and sponsored a very enjoyable and lucrative Valentine's Day Dance, The Sweetheart Hop. These and other ventures helped the paper become a financial success. The achievement of this goal was the most serious problem facing the Smoke Signal this year, and the staff has done an outstanding job in making the paper a profitable undertaking.

Plans for the future include setting up an entirely new format that should prove more interesting to all readers. The Smoke Signal should be congratulated for maintaining its high quality of writing and at the same time improving the circulation of the publication.

CAST MAINTAINS A HIGH LEVEL OF DRAMA

Invalid dictator

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" was a comedy that gave the cast as many laughs as it did the audience. Some of their blunders proved to be even funnier than the script, especially during early rehearsals when they had to use makeshift props, which were unsteady to say the least.

The play, itself, is probably one of the outstanding satires of our day. Confusion is generated by the explosive reactions of a theatrical eccentric temporarily incarcerated in a middle-class home.

The rich character roles were portrayed by our "old pros" Karen Beamish, Brian Shaw, Janice Wilson, and Dick Newbert as well as "up and coming" lower classmen including Betsy Wigginton and Roy MacArthur (to mention just a few of the superb cast). Once again Weston has outdone itself with another excellent play.

MANY TALENTS MAKE THE SOUND OF MUSIC

Mr. Corley capably directs the orchestra's thirty-four members, who range in age from the eighth to the twelfth grades. In this 1959-'60 season, the orchestra participated in the annual spring concert and also in a festival held in Woburn, where Weston received a highly commendable rating. A "first" in the history of the orchestra was an exchange concert with Dearing High School in Portland, Maine. The fine ability of several orchestra members was again demonstrated, when they were accepted to play in the regional and All-State festivals.

A considerable amount of recognition is due to President Karen Beamish and Concert Mistress Priscilla McFarlin. The combination of talent, perseverance, and good conducting readily account for the orchestra's outstanding performances.

A significant branch of the original orchestra is the newly formed string orchestra, consisting of violins, celli, violas, and basses. Under the conduction of Mr. Corley, the players rehearse once a week in preparation for performances in the school play and in another example of the interest and cooperation that exists in Weston High toward its Music Department.

BAND AND MAJORETTES ADD ENERGY TO EVENTS

A "W.H.S." coming to life on the football field; a stirring rendition of "the Little Drummer Boy" at the Christmas assembly; outstanding band members contributing effectively to the district musical festival: these are some of the ways the Weston High Band has distinguished itself. Under Mr. Corley's enthusiastic direction, the band has worked diligently and has achieved fine results in all they have attempted.

At the annual pre-season pep-rally Coach Harris dared to make the statement that the football team would make at least four touchdowns a game. It was nothing less than a shock to those who scoffed at his speech when the team came remarkably close to the predicted touchdowns. The backfield was especially good with old hands Jay Adams, Mike McDonald, and Forbes McMullin. They were fast and well coordinated. The line was comparitively green, but made up for the lack of experience with plenty of enthusiasm. Although Weston suffered a crushing defeat at the hands of the Wayland team, the overall season was quite successful.

FOOTBALL TEAM IN A GOOD SEASON

Representing Weston's Wildcat Spirit at the football and basketball games are the cheerleaders. Impartial judges choose the squad from the large number of girls who try out each spring. These nine energetic girls practice many long hours, learning to lead the students and townsfolk in cheers to encourage our teams. The cheerleaders' enthusiastic influence has done a lot to arouse Weston's school spirit, and they deserve a great deal of credit.

The Weston Girls' Field Hockey Team finished another season of undefeated play with six wins and two ties. Urged on by the high scorers and co-captains, Esther and Posy Lombard, the team showed great skill and energy on the playing field.

Miss Butera, with her vivacious enthusiasm, coached a responsive bunch of girls. The new field helped everyone play better and made it much harder to choose from the large number of girls who tried out for the team.

The girls who took an active part in the afternoon field hockey program not only deserve credit for their outstanding record, but also for their fine display of good sportsmanship and team cooperation.

This year the basketball team suffered from more than its share of bad luck and instead of the much hoped-for title, took third place in the Class D competition. The varsity, coached by Mr. Carini, completed an eight and six season by defeating a strong Lynnfield team. Early in the game, Captain Terry Dunn scored his thousandth point. Jack Mahoney, John Greenlie, Bud Foster, and Ed Perkins were the other members of the starting five. On the bench were sixth and seventh men, Doug Macdonald and Bob Bogardus.

Mr. Kellett's Junior Varsity boys had a very successful nine and five season. Coming from behind in the fourth quarter of the Wayland game, Larry Leonhardt, Pete Revotski, Peter Duffy, and Russ Reilly tied it up and went on to win by four points in overtime.

Ninety girls came out for basketball this season, showing the tremendous interest for the sport. Miss Butera had an exceedingly difficult time cutting the team, since the girls were all nearly equal in skill. With the help of an advising committee of four girls, one from each class, the squad was finally diminished to nine varsity and nineteen junior varsity members. Miss Butera was able to let everyone play in the games, more evidence of the closeness of the girls' playing skill. In spite of injuries on the squad, the season was a successful one with seven wins and three losses for both teams. The varsity was defeated twice by our rivals, Lincoln-Sudbury, and lost a close game to Walpole. Despite the scores, these games proved to be the best-played ones. Posy Lombard's agility as a defense player and Gail Graham's high scoring (109 points for the season) highlighted the varsity team.

The Weston baseball team ended the 1959 season with a record of five wins and six losses. There were many close and exciting games which did credit to a team of mainly juniors and sophomores. The starters were as follows: p. F. McMullin, c. R. Powers, 1b. B. Foster, 2b. R. White, s. B. Bogardus, 3b. J. Mahoney, lf. M. MacDonald, cf. J. Robbins, rf. D. McDonald.

The pitching staff was weak and the boys inexperienced, but they counterbalanced their handicap with plenty of enthusiasm.

Since the team lost only one player through graduation, a much better season is expected next year.

Sparked by the pitching of Gail Graham and the hitting of Paula Toner, the 1959 Girl's softball team finished its winning season with a sterling 11—5 victory over a tough Lincoln-Sudbury team, which earlier had beaten Weston 13—6. Wayland, Westwood and Newton provided the Weston girls with easy victories. They were not so fortunate with Wellesley and Walnut Hill.

The outfield was well-covered by Ann Molan, Anne Healy and Hope Palmer. The infield, consisting of Gail Graham, Betty O'Toole, and Pat Gilligan, was bolstered by the magnificent fielding of shortstop Paula Toner. Bev Ormsby and Barbi King provided us with a fine battery. Captain Lee Johnson played exceptionally well at any base or outfield position. The tremendous interest and co-operation of the girls resulted in a happy and successful season.

Despite the loss of John Wyman, Weston's big gun two years ago, the tennis team had an almost perfect season. Led by Bob Wilkes and Jim Campbell, the team enjoyed seven victories against one defeat and one tie.

Read Langenbach and Jeff Hubbard shared third alternate position in singles competition. Rounding out the team were Dick Ayers and Stormy Adams; Tom Duffy and Phil Comeau, playing in doubles competition. The whole team, with the exception of Bob Wilkes, who graduated, is predicted to remain and have a successful and glorious season next spring.

TENNIS SHARPENS THE EYE

The 1959 girls' tennis team finished their 5th season successfully winning 5 out of 6 of their matches. They easily defeated Westwood twice, Concord, Newton, and Walnut Hill, but were not so lucky with Melrose, losing 3—2.

Captain Jane Monell, Ann Kellogg, and Susie McGuire played 2nd, 1st, and 3rd singles respectively. These three Seniors won most of their matches. The Lombard Sisters, Esther and Posy, held the 1st doubles, both winning their respective matches. Susan Koester and Barbara Wyman played 2nd doubles. The tremendous interest and enthusiasm gained the girls a successful season.

CONCORD at WESTON	4—1
WESTWOOD at WESTON	5—0
WESTON at NEWTON	4—1
WESTON at WALNUT H.	3—2
WESTON at WESTWOOD	5—0
MELROSE at WESTON	2—3

FIRST ROW — A. Corman, R. Wile, B. McLane, E. Lombard, S. Petrick. SECOND ROW — Miss Butera, B. Wyman, A. Kellogg, S. Koester, S. McGuire, P. Lombard, J. Monell.

Our growing list of minor sports was augmented last spring by the addition of the track team. Although they only participated in one meet the boys showed great enthusiasm and practiced every afternoon with vigor.

If nothing else, running, jumping, and putting the shot improved their wind. And who made all this possible? Mr. Murphy. With his clip-board and cryptic remarks always ready at a moment's notice. He enlivened and thrilled the boys with stories of "greats" in the sports world.

Working to satisfy Mr. Murphy's demands were S. Richardson, B. Holcomb, D. Tabors, K. Stone, B. DeAmbrose, T. McGettigan, P. Borrelli, R. McArthur, B. Emery, J. Akers, M. Kuipers, K. Child, and J. Bump, next year's captain.

The cross country team: STANDING: Mr. Romano, J. Burke, B. DeAmbrose, R. Langenbach, L. Rydell, J. Ogilvie. KNEELING: W. Vaughan, B. Eddy, J. Bump, M. Lombard.

MINOR SPORTS DEVELOP PROWESS

Led by John Perry and Pete Bryant, the golf team compiled an impressive record. This is their record year of regular competition, and they are known as a team to be reckoned with. Edie Larkin, the only girl on the team, showed that golf can be a woman's game by ranking high in the squad.

The golf team was made possible only through the effort of the coach Mr. Cronan and the generosity of the Weston Golf Club.

THE THREE R'S MIGHT HAVE BEEN ENOUGH YESTERDAY, but today they merely represent a good beginning . . . a platform for the future. In a world of Sputnik, Lunik, Atlas, and Jupiter, the three R's must be expanded if we are to preserve the American way of life and our cherished freedoms.

We at your neighborhood Sylvania plants and laboratories are proud to be members of the vitally important electronics industry, which is playing such a major role in preparing for the world of tomorrow.

At our Waltham Laboratories, we are engaged in such highly advanced fields as detection, tracking and defensive missile systems, electronic warfare systems, support systems, and related military electronics equipments, components and study programs.

At our Data Systems Operations in Needham, we are active in data processing, special and general-purpose computer systems, data transmission and allied programs. And Sylvania's broad research and production capabilities throughout the country give promise of even more important future contributions to the defense effort and to industry.

To meet the challenge of tomorrow, America must interest thousands upon thousands of young men and women in scientific and engineering careers . . . young people with a will to conquer the unknown, a desire to accomplish the impossible. Only through knowledge and determination can we meet the demands of the future. To provide the modern Edisons who will be needed so urgently tomorrow, we urge youth in greater numbers to seek careers in science and engineering. No career offers more challenges or greater opportunities for young Americans.
